SENSATION CREATED

Johnson of California Scores Editor Hearst.

GLASSBLOWERS AND POTTERS.

Workmen Appear Before the Ways and Means Committee—Pacific Railroad Bill Consumes Another Day in the House—Notice Given of a Substitute Bill—Hardy of Indiana Creates a Laugh.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The second day's debate on the Pacific railroad funding bill developed by far the most sensational incident of this session of congress. Mr. Johnson (Rep., Cal.), the only member of the California delegation who favors the bill, in the course of his remarks took occasion to make a remarkable vituperative personal attack on Editor Hearst of the San Francisco Examiner. He described Mr. Hearst and Mayor Sato as men who were terrorizing the Pacific coast members, and made statements concerning the former which led Mr. Cooper (Rep., Wis.) to characterize it later as the "most disgraceful attack in the legislative annals of the United States." The members who had been listening attentively to Mr. Johnson's remarks, as he is always one of the most entertaining speakers in the house, were thunderstruck at the lengths to which he went. Once at the last session Mr. Johnson denounced Mr. Hearst, but on that occasion he was called to order by Mr. Maguire of California. Yesterday he completed his Philippic without interruption.

The speech created a profound sensation, which was increased by Mr. Cooper's denunciation of it as a cowardly attempt to blacken the reputation of a man of "positive genius." Mr. Cooper also took occasion to score the gentleman from California roundly for his attitude toward the bill.

Mr. Johnson made no attempt to reply to Mr. Cooper. This incident completely overshadowed the interest in the debate on the funding bill and thereafter it proceeded quietly to the hour when the general debate closed. Today the bill will be taken up for amendment under the six-minute rule.

Mr. Harrison gave notice of a substitute he should offer to provide for a commission to consist of the secretary of the treasury, secretary of the interior and attorney general to negotiate the settlement of the debt.

Evening Session.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Last evening's session of the house was spent in a vain effort to procure a quorum, which was undertaken at the instance of Mr. Erdman (Dem., Pa.). A call of the house was made and afterward the sergeant-at-arms was directed to arrest and bring in absentees. Pending this proceeding there were repeated motions to adjourn, to suspend further proceedings under the call, etc. Mr. Hardy (Rep., Ind.) raised a laugh by asking if it would be in order to "submit a few remarks upon the perversity and cussedness of mankind in general and of the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Erdman) in particular." The house adjourned.

TARIFF HEARINGS.

Glassblowers and Potters Before the Ways and Means Committee.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The workingmen played the principal parts in the tariff hearing yesterday by the ways and means committee. Delegations of operatives from the organizations of glassblowers, flint and lime glass workers, the bottle and windowglass blowers of Illinois and Pennsylvania and the potters of Trenton, N. J., and East Liverpool, O., spoke. All told the same story of decreased wages, mills running on short time and general distress under the operation of the Wilson law. F. L. Bodine of Philadelphia spoke for the manufacturers of cylinder windowglass and Congressman Taylor of Ohio, for the potters, gave interesting illustration of ruinous competition from Japan. F. O. Partridge of Rutland, Vt., presented a schedule agreed upon by all the marble interests and minor interests were also represented.

TO BLOCKADE CHARLESTON.

Secretary Herbert Has Decided to Give the Navy Lessons.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Secretary Herbert, after consultation with Admiral Bunce, commanding the North American squadron, has decided to allow the admiral to undertake the blockade of Charleston. Heretofore the squadron maneuvers have not gone beyond target practice, fleet evolution, signaling and landing parties. Gradually the exercises have been enlarged in scope as the officers and men gained in proficiency and became better acquainted with the qualities of their respective ships and how Secretary Herbert has become satisfied of the practicability of undertaking a regular blockade.

Appointed Examiner of the Mint.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Henry M. Clapp of Ohio, stenographer in the office of the secretary of the treasury, has been appointed examiner of the mint at a salary of $2,500 per annum. This position has been vacant since the appointment of W. E. Morgan to be coinier of the mint at Philadelphia, in June, 1895.

West Nominated.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 9.—The Democratic caucus last night nominated Senator George G. Vest as a candidate for United States senator to succeed himself. The legislature will vote for United States senator on Jan. 18, when it is confidently expected Vest will be re-elected.

JACKSON DAY.
Henry Watterson Addresses the Gold Democrats at Chicago.
CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Representatives of the gold democracy of Illinois and other states of the middle west, northwest and south met at the Auditorium last night for the purpose of celebrating Jackson day. Fully 500 men were present, and the banquet was in many respects a notable affair of its kind. Letters were received from President Cleveland, Secretary Morton and Senator John M. Palmer, and a large number of Democrats throughout the country sent regrets over the wire or by letter at the inability of the sender to be present in person, and all sent words indicative of the utmost confidence in the future of that branch of the Democratic party which has declared itself against free silver.

Henry Watterson was the principal speaker of the evening. He was greeted with ringing cheers when he rose to begin his address on the "Future of Democracy." After eulogizing Democracy for its stand against protection, trusts and other combines, and congratulating that portion of it which left the Chicago convention as being opposed to "organized anarchy" and "organized capital," which he defined as those who stood by the Chicago platform and the Republican platform, respectively, he closed by saying:

"This is St. Jackson's day, and, with reverent hearts, we are here to celebrate it. He was a Democrat. We are Democrats. He was for honest money. We are for honest money. He stood by the integrity of the nation. We stand by the integrity of the nation. He believed in the people and trusted to the fidelity of his conviction. We believe in the people and trust to the fidelity of our convictions. When treason reared its head in the form of nullification, he struck it a withering blow. When treason, in the form of anarchy, reared its head, we struck it a withering blow. And so again and again shall we strike it, whenever and wherever it appears, until we have wiped demagogues and demagogism from the face of the earth and brought our government back to its original functions, the just protection of property and life, and the equalization of all men and all classes in the pursuit of prosperity and happiness."

CABINET PREDICTIONS.
CLEVELAND, Jan. 9.—McKinley is resting quietly at the home of Col. Herriek, protected as far as possible from callers who have no legitimate claim upon him. He is not now at work upon his message, but is receiving visitors and resting. Last night Senator Allison was discussed for the state portfolio by the president-elect and several of his Cleveland friends. It is understood that Allison desires to finish his term in the senate. It is stated that when McKinley returns to Canton Senator Sherman will visit him there.

Among the callers at the Herriek home were two sons of ex-presidents, Hon. James R. Garfield and Webb C. Hayes.

In the afternoon McKinley took a drive with Colonel Herriek and lunched with him at the Union club. Mr. and Mrs. McKinley and Colonel and Mrs. Herriek took dinner and spent the evening with Mrs. Sarah Duncan, the president's sister.

Mr. Hanna was in conference with Hon. S. M. Taylor, secretary of state of Ohio, whose term of office is about to expire, and Colonel John Donaldson of Columbus. Major Dick denied that he had been agreed upon as the president's private secretary.

The cabinet predicted by one who has been a friend and staunch supporter of McKinley during his later career is as follows:

Secretary of State—Senator Sherman.
Secretary of the Treasury—Mr. Dingley of Maine, if his health permits.
Secretary of War—General Alger.
Secretary of the Navy—Cornelius N. Bliss.
Attorney General—Judge Goff of West Virginia.
Secretary of the Interior—Judge McKenna of California.
Postmaster General—Mr. Hanna, provided Senator Sherman is not secretary of state.
Secretary of Agriculture—A farmer from the central west.

DOWN TO BUSINESS

Indiana Lawmakers In Both Houses Pass Bills.

TWO COUNTY ENABLING ACTS.

Building and Loan Association Bill and Fee and Salary Law Amendments Introduced—House Passes Its New Rules and a Bill Appropriating Legislative Expenses.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 9.—Some business of importance besides listening to the message of Governor Matthews was transacted by the general assembly yesterday. The house adopted its new rules and the senate passed two bills, enabling the commissioners of Allen and Jasper counties to issue bonds for their new courthouses. A rollcall for bills was had in the senate and 22 were introduced, the most important of them being a building and loan bill by Senator Newby, upon the lines of the famous bill that was defeated two years ago, and bills to amend the fee and salary law. The house adopted new rules calculated to hold down the large minority and passed a bill appropriating $100,000 for the expenses of the session. Both houses adjourned until next Monday, and as that is inauguration day it is not likely that much business will be transacted then. The new lieutenant governor and the speaker will announce their standing committees on Tuesday. In the senate Senator Mull will head the finance committee and Senator Newby the judiciary committee. In the house it is probable that B. Wilson Smith will head the ways and means committee and John L. Linck the committee on judiciary.

DAYS' PROCEEDINGS.

Important Bills Introduced in the Senate—Contests Filed in the House.

The senate met promptly at 10 o'clock and transacted a good deal of business during the hour that intervened before the joint session to listen to the governor's message. The two bills passed were to enable the completion of the courthouses of Jasper and Allen counties.

The most important measure among the bills introduced was a building and loan measure by Senator Newby, which was carried on the calendar as senate bill No. 22. The bill has all the essential features of the measure over which there was such a long and hard fight at the last session and which was finally beaten in the senate. It also has one or two new features, designed to prevent the transfer of funds under guise of loans from one section to another or from a "No. 1" to a "No. 2."

There were three bills introduced for the rearrangement of judicial circuits, and two bills were introduced for the purpose of straightening out the fault in the fee and salary law requiring auditors and treasurers to make up their salaries from their fees.

Senator O'Brien introduced a bill placing the appointment of the custodian and engineer of the state house in the hands of the governor, secretary and auditor of state.

Senator Costlin introduced a bill providing that when road indebtedness of a township exceeds the road fund for the estimated receipts from road tax for one year the trustee may levy an additional road tax not exceeding one percent after presenting to the county commissioners a detailed statement of the matter.

Senator Shively at the afternoon session introduced an anti-trust law which is very complete in its provisions as to the estimated receipts from road tax for one year the trustee may levy an additional road tax not exceeding one percent after presenting to the county commissioners a detailed statement of the matter.

Senator Schenck introduced a compulsory education bill which is practically the same measure he had before the senate two years ago, and is modeled after the law of Illinois.

The senate adjourned until Monday. The house transacted no business until after the joint session. It then remained at work for nearly an hour before adjourning until Monday. Mr. Nicholson, chairman of the committee on rules, presented his report. The rules of the last session are revised in a few points and are designed to hold in check the large minority and strengthen the hands of the speaker. The most important change is, instead of a mere Disease is like a railroad train. It has a regular way of coming and going and keeps on steadily along a certain track. You can almost always tell how a disease starts, and where it will probably end. It usually begins when the appetite gives out—that's the first warning whistle. Then the stomach and nutritive organs fail to supply good blood. The circulation grows poor, thin and the disease is stopped. It won't go out of its way to oblige you any more than a locomotive. and tainted. Instead of carrying nourishment to the different parts of the body it carries poison, which settles at some point and eats away the tissues. According to where it settles it is called liver or kidney or skin disease—scrofula, erysipelas, eczema, or consumption if it settles on the lungs. It is all one trouble—tainted blood; clear out this tainted blood and build up the tissues with rich blood and the disease is stopped. Speaker Pettit announced that he had received the papers in three contests and had turned them over to the clerk. The cases are those of Pointexter against Graham in Clark county, Adams against Miller in Parke and Cockran against Hart in Gibson county. The Clark county contest is based upon various charges of fraud and intimidation of voters. The contest in Parke and Gibson counties, however, bring up the direct issue of the legality of fusions arranged by committees.

Representative Thomas introduced a bill appropriating money for the expenses of the session. It was passed without objection under suspension of the rules. The amount appropriated was $100,000, after which the house adjourned until Monday.

Inauguration Ceremonies.

The inaugural committee, composed of citizens of both parties, completed the arrangements last night for the inauguration. The committee will meet at the Denison House Monday morning at 11 o'clock, and carriages will be sent for Governor and Mrs. Matthews and Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Nye. Governor Matthews will call on Governor Mount, and the latter will be escorted to the capitol. The governor's party will proceed to the senate chamber, where Lieutenant Governor Haggard will be inaugurated at noon in the presence of the general assembly, state officers and judges of the higher courts. Immediately following Governor Mount will be inaugurated from a platform in the main corridor. Governor Matthews will deliver a farewell sentence, and Chief Justice Jordan will administer the oath of office to Governor Mount. An informal reception will be held in the governor's parlor in the evening.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Affairs of the State Reviewed by Mr. Matthews.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 9.—Governor Matthews sent his last message to the general assembly yesterday. His introductory welcomed the legislature and pointed to grave responsibilities resting upon the members. The business depression demanded a wise and just economy in the conduct of public affairs.

The governor points with pride to the condition of Indiana's finances, and says the state debt has been reduced in the past four years $2,100,000, effecting a saving in the annual interest charges of $81,800. A moderate reduction in the general tax levy, he thinks, might be made without impairing the public service. The state debt sinking fund should be maintained at the present 8 cent levy for its sure and gradual extinguishment, which is: Foreign debt, $6,239,615.12; domestic, $484,000, total, $6,723,615.12.

Of the state tax law he says it has been cheerfully accepted and submitted to by individual taxpayers, but constantly fought by corporations. The law has been sustained by the supreme court of the United States. The legislature is admonished not to amend or change it as "it is a just law and has worked well."

Concerning the state institutions he says there is nothing of special importance to be reported. All are under non-partisan control except the two state penitentiaries. He recommends the establishment of a third penal institution, instead of spending large amounts in enlarging the present ones.

On the subject of compulsory education the governor writes at length. The number of children in the state of school age is 734,640, and the number enrolled in the public schools is 543,665, showing as not enrolled 190,975. He estimates the number attending the various private schools at 30,000, thus leaving 190,975 as not attending either public or private schools. He thinks a wise compulsory educational law would redound to the benefit of the state.

The governor thinks the annual appropriations to the state agricultural board should be continued, as he believes in time it will be able to place the state fair on a substantial basis.

The public schools are referred to as a source of pride and the legislators are asked to guard them jealously. The total revenue for the schools from all sources in 1896, was $4,801,413.04, and the fund now amounts to $10,218,432.19. He recommends the abolishment of the state sanitary commission and in lieu thereof the appointment of a competent veterinary surgeon by the governor. He also recommends the abolishment of the state geologists office. He says he is unable to commend the recommendations of the state board of health and believes that practical labor and investigation is of more value than theoretical fauces.

The governor says he appointed the centennial commission authorized by the last legislature and no attempt should be made to celebrate Indiana's 100 years of wonderful growth, except on a broad and generous scale. He asks careful consideration of the subject in connection with the condition of business.

He says it would be a valuable service to the public to adopt a vigorous law, preventing the formation of trusts and prohibiting their doing business within the state, with severe penalties of fine and imprisonment or both for its violation.

Attention is called by the governor to the Vandallia railroad, and he says steps should be taken to ascertain whether the road owes the state, and if so, to enforce the collection of the claim.

Building associations are declared a benefit to the community, and should be protected by wise and beneficial laws. Attention is called to the report of the commission authorized by the last legislature, and the governor bespeaks for it careful consideration.

The governor reviews the Cuban situation, and says it is proper for the representatives to voice the sentiment of the state and to ask our senators and representatives in congress to use every effort that at least belligerent rights be accorded the government of Cuban patriots.

Among other things considered is the salary of the governor, which the present incumbent claims is not commensurate with the duties of the office. Pure food is touched upon, as are the state fish laws. The revision of the laws relating to municipal corporations, township trustees, insurance, etc., is recommended.

SENATOR ALDRICH.

Report That He Will Be Secretary of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Senator Aldrich refused to discuss a report in circulation yesterday to the effect that he had been tendered the office of secretary of the treasury. When seen by an Associated Press reporter he said: "Anything I would say would be misconstrued and I think my best plan is to say nothing."

"You can," it was suggested to him, "say whether there is any foundation for the story. Whether it is true or not."

"No I cannot say that. I can say nothing about it at all."

The senator was in close conference during the day and remained late at the capitol. He conferred with his friends. He called on Mr. Dingley during the day.

Not Much Improvement in Business—Collections Unsatisfactory.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Bradstreet today says: With the exception of reports from a dozen Southern Atlantic coast and gulf cities, jobbers at nearly all distributng centers say business is dull and without new features. Demand has improved at Chicago and St. Louis for hats, hardware, shoes and drygoods, but trade in those places is fair only. Colder weather has stimulated purchases of clothing at some points. Little general recovery from holiday dullness is reported as yet. At most centers salesmen are just starting out. Collections are reported unsatisfactory but in many instances merchants express themselves as hopeful of good spring business.

Your Vitality?
The essence of life is force. Every breath you breathe, every heart beat, every motion of your hand, takes force. The measure of force we call vitality. If this is lacking, there is loss of flesh, lack of resistive power, a tendency to catch disease easily, especially a tendency to Consumption. For low vitality nothing is better than Scott's Emulsion. It supplies force by furnishing the nourishing, strengthening elements of food in an easily digested form; enriches the blood, and builds up the system. When ordinary food is of no avail, Scott's Emulsion will supply the body with all the vital elements of life. Two sizes, 50 cts. and $1.00. All druggists.

Advert at the Seymour, Indiana, office on second-class matter.

The republican party proposes to re-order good times by substituting a policy that will cut down our debts for a policy that is increasing this debt.

SENATOR SCHNECK is two years ahead of the governor on the subject of compulsory education. He presented the subject of the legislature of 1895.—Journal.

MANY states will elect United States senators this winter. It is to be hoped that the newly elected members will bring some needed reforms in that body.

The republican party always has promoted prosperity in America by its tariff legislation and this is the best reason for believing they will do so again this year.

W. J. BRYAN is a wonderful reasoner. He wrote to a free silver club in Ohio: "If we were right in the campaign we are still right, and if our opponents were wrong during the campaign they are still wrong." But what a big "if" that is.

CANADA sends word that she will send representatives to Washington to arrange for a new treaty of reciprocity. The prospect of a republican administration in less than sixty days means the renewal of our trade relations with the world.

A PURSE of gold was presented to retiring Lieutenant Governor Nye as a testimonial from the senate. Some of the popovers contributed to the purse feel like kicking themselves since they found that it took the form of gold coin.

AN advertisement in a legitimate newspaper is the best kind of an advertisement, after all. The newspaper goes into the homes and is read by the members of the family every day in the year. Hardly a day passes but the REPUBLICAN has evidence presented to it that the advertising in its columns is read by our subscribers. Our readers have learned that they can rely upon the paper for clean and legitimate advertising.

THE next five years will be, we think, the most prosperous ones we have ever had in this country. The factories of the country have been stopped now for three years or running on half time, and the country is free of goods and there will naturally be healthy demand for all kinds of merchandise. Our wheat is in demand in foreign countries, where the crops have been a failure. Wheat is at a good price and corn will follow. All kinds of cereals will probably command good prices.—Lawrenceburg Press.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

GOVERNOR MATTHEWS last message contains many things that are worthy of careful consideration by the legislature. He recommends a separation of the first offenders from the hardened criminals and that they be kept in separate prisons. This plan is commended by all advocates of prison reform.

The governor is right when he urges the need of economy in the administration of the state's finances. The state is to be congratulated on the good work which has been done lately in cutting down our state debt and making our credit second to none in the land. Much of the credit for this is due to the economical measures adopted by the last legislature which was republican.

The governor advises a compulsory education law. Whether the recommendations he makes are sufficiently far reaching is questionable but it is in the right direction and is in line with a bill introduced by Senator Schneck two years ago.

The question of the centennial is handled very carefully and he evidently does not favor the plan as proposed by the commission in its report made recently.

There is some feeling of soreness in that part of the message referring to the prison management in which he speaks of the appointing power being taken from the governor. Theoretically, probably, the appointing power should be vested in the governor, but the fact is beyond dispute that in practice the present management of our prisons has been the most successful in the history of the state, and Indiana's prisons are becoming models for similar institutions of other states.

In the matter of building and loan legislation the governor recommends the greatest care in amending the laws, but urges the necessity of some changes with much earnestness.

Many items of minor interest are considered in the message which deserve careful attention from the legislature however much this body may differ from the conclusions reached by the executive.

DON CAMERON, who will be succeeded in the United States senate March 4, by Boies Penrose, began his career in the senate in 1877, having been elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of his father, Simon Cameron. Penrose, though a young man, is regarded one of the ablest men in Pennsylvania.

SENATOR VEST has been re-elected to the United States senate by the democratic representatives of Missouri. He began his services as senator March 18, 1879, and was re-elected in 1885 and 1891. His new term to which he has just been elected begins March 4. He says that his official career will close with the end of this term in 1903.

The national election so absorbs public attention that the election of the governors of the various states passes with little consideration outside the respective states, and often with too little consideration even within their boundaries. But, under our federal system, if the greater interests are affected by congress and the president, a greater variety of interests and many which come closer home to the citizen, are affected by the state legislature and the governor. If the moral complexion of the people of the whole country is indicated by the character of its presidential candidates, it is still more accurately indicated by the character of its gubernatorial candidates. For the quality and character of the men who are elected in the various states to represent the interests of the people, and who are personally known to the people who have elected them, is quite as significant of the present condition and future prospects of the country as is the character of the man whom the nation elects to be its president.—The Outlook.

ROPE AND BULLETS

Simon Cooper, the Negro Outlaw,
Lynched by a Mob.

HIS CABIN A PERFECT ARSENAL.

Since New Years Day He Has Killed Five Men—Murdered a Whole Family at One Time—Taken From the Sheriff, Strung Up and His Body Filled With Bullets.

SUMTER, S. O., Jan. 9.—Simon Cooper, the negro outlaw who murdered three members of the Wilson family and a colored servant, was lynched near here yesterday. Cooper was captured by the sheriff's posse and was being taken to Sumter when the mob decided to hang him. The deputy sheriff, aided by two men, resisted the lynchers, but were overpowered. A rope was thrown over the limb of a tree and as the man swung upward the body was pierced by more than 150 bullets. One bullet cut the rope and the corpse fell to the ground, where the coroner found it some hours later, when he went to hold an inquest.

Cooper was captured in a cabin five miles from this place. Jake Dargan, colored, went to the house of W. S. Burkett, a white neighbor, and said that Cooper was at his house asleep.

Burkett rode to Sumter with the news and a deputy sheriff with a posse of nine men immediately left. A man and a woman were in the house with Cooper. He sent the woman out and later sent the man to buy him ammunition in Camden, giving him a sample shell. The man rode over to the posse and gave them the shell. Cooper was well armed with Winchester and kept up a continuous fire. The house is small and on a hill in the open, so that the posse could not at first come within range with any degree of safety.

Once Cooper came out of the house with a gun and was taking aim, when a Mr. McCowen fired at him. Cooper immediately dropped his gun and seemed to be hit. He did not shoot but returned to the house. Cooper's steady fire kept the crowd under cover for some time.

Finally an advance was made and the posse closed in. After a parley Cooper agreed to come out. Several men posted themselves at the door, and as the outlaw stepped out he was seized by the arms. As he stood facing the crowd a shot was fired, and Cooper dropped with a rifle ball through his cheeks. He was not badly wounded, however, and as he rolled over made an attempt to get his hand to his trousers. In his shirt a razor was found, while beneath his trousers he was a loaded revolver. Cooper was drunk, and after the shot became almost unmanageable.

A search of the cabin revealed a Winchester rifle, two revolvers, a valise filled with cartridges and a number of flasks, some empty and others filled with whisky. On a page torn from a blank book was written, "Remember that I killed myself; there never was a man that could take me. Simon Cooper."

Since Jan. 1 Simon Cooper has killed five men and one woman and wounded five men. Cooper first killed Henry Davis, colored, Jan. 1, and when a posse of negroes with a warrant against him took him he shot down six. One of them has died.

Since he murdered West Wilson, his wife and father and Preston Smith, two miles from Lynchburg. All were white. Ben Wilson was found lying on his back in the hall. He was nearly 76, a quiet, inoffensive old gentleman. West Wilson, 47, was lying on the floor on his face in a pool of his own blood. Mrs. Wilson was found lying in her mother-in-law's room, with her face on the hearth. She had evidently been aroused out of bed, for she was in her nightgown. All had had their heads split open with an ax.

Glave's Eager Spirit.
Among the young officials who were waiting appointments at Leopoldville was Mr. E. J. Glave. He appeared to be a slim, tall boy of 18 or 19, but during the few days I remained at Leopoldville I saw that he was a man of character, well educated, fond of sketching, and eager for active service. I was always on the lookout for willing spirits. Every European seemed willing enough when he first landed on the river, but very few, after an experience of the fever, long retained that willingness. However, Glave condemned his inaction, and when offered a chance of proving his mettle and ability at Lukolela, became aglow with animation.—Henry M. Stanley in Century.

The name of the "century plant" is misleading. It blooms, not once in a century, but once in 10 or 12 years, then dies.

CASTORIA.
The famous family medicine.

Here is the way Ingersoll put it: "Here is a shoe shop. One man in the shoe shop is always busy through the day—always industrious. In the evening he goes courting some nice girl. There are five other men in the shop that don't do any such thing. They spend half their working evenings in dissipation. The first young man by and by cuts out these others and gets a boot and shoe store of his own. Then he marries the girl. Soon he is able to take his wife out riding on an evening. The five laborers, his former companions, who see him indulging in this luxury, retire to the neighboring saloon and pass resolutions that there is an eternal struggle between labor and capital."

The Pennsylvania "The New World's Greatest Railroad."

Every foot of its lines is constructed with a view to the absolute safety of passengers, and this, with a comprehensive system of automatic signals, has almost eliminated the possibility of accident. This feature of safety is so well realized that, while accidents on other roads are given as minor news in the daily papers, so rare is a casualty on the Pennsylvania, that even an account of a freight accident is capped with glaring headlines in the leading dailies. Every mile of track is stone ballasted, and laid with the heaviest steel rails, so solidly bound in position that the spreading of rails is unknown in the history of the company.

Stretching from Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Cleveland to Pittsburgh, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, it strings, with few exceptions, all the great cities of the Union on its strands of steel; like huge municipal jewels in a continent-encircling necklace. It traverses much of the most picturesque and beautiful scenery in eastern America. Going from west to east or from east to west, it is a favorite line of travel from nearly everywhere to nearly everywhere. Its famous "limited trains," first introduced in 1882, revolutionized all the world's accepted notions and ideals of luxuriousness in travel, and gave the first grand impetus to the general improvement in track and train service, which has made American railways the wonder and the envy of all creation. It is the new world's greatest railroad, and mightiest corporation.—Salt Lake City Utahian.

Luck Has Never Helped Anybody.
In replying to the query, "Does not luck sometimes play a goodly part in a man's success?" Edward W. Bok, in the Ladies' Home Journal, writes:

"Never. Henry Ward Beecher answered this question once for all when he said: 'No man prospers in this world by luck, unless it be the luck of getting up early, working hard and maintaining honor and integrity.' What so often seems, to many young men, on the surface, as being luck in a man's career is nothing more than hard work done at some special time. The idea that luck is a factor in a man's success has ruined thousands; it has never helped a single person. A fortunate chance comes to a young man sometimes just at the right moment. 'And that some people call luck. But that chance was given him because he had at some time demonstrated the fact that he was the right man for the chance. That is the only luck there is. Work hard, demonstrate your ability, and show to others that if an opportunity comes within your grasp you are able to use it.'"

VENETIAN GLASS.

AN ANCIENT INDUSTRY REVIVED IN THE ISLAND OF MURANO.

These Works of Art, Not Monotonous, Are Produced—How the Descendants of the Old Venetian Glassworkers Make Beautiful Articles of Use and Ornament.

Among the lagoons, nearly due north of Venice, in the island of Murano there lives a race of men who seem to have a great future. They are the descendants of the old Venetian glassworkers, and of late years they have been reviving the ancient art, which made Murano famous in the past, of glassblowing.

The old Venetian glass was what is commonly called blown, but the name gives a very small idea of the manufacture. Glass has certain characteristics which give it its true beauty and value for art purposes, and though you may neglect these and force it to make forms utterly foreign to its nature you are producing not works of art, but monstrosities. Whatever glass may be, it is in its natural state not crystalline, so that nature is outraged when we grind it into sharp angular forms that belong rather to other materials. The old Venetian glass was light, bright, vitreous in appearance and stained with the richest possible colors, and all these qualities are retained in the newly revived manufacture at Murano.

There is one more strong point in favor of glass blown and worked over than molded—namely, that every individual piece is an original art, and as it is almost impossible that any two should be exactly alike, unless their form is very simple (adec, the buyer chooses according to his fancy and is sure that no one else possesses a piece exactly the same size and shape. In the manufacture of the ordinary cut glass minimum (red lead) is frequently added to increase its brightness, but this destroys at once the characteristic lightness, and, causing it to cool more rapidly, quite prevents the possibility of working it in the proper ductile and malleable condition.

The Murano material is worked as the ancient Venetian glass made on the same island used to be, and all the old methods have been discovered, or at least the same effects have been produced. The flamma, perhaps more strange than beautiful, the millefiori, the smelze, including perfect imitations of agates, chalcedons, lapis lazuli, etc., for mosaic, the aqua marina, rich ruby colors, the brilliant aventurin, all are here, and many other kinds of work, some of which are imitations of the old glass and some new inventions.

The tools used are a hollow reed of iron, a few instruments like shears, of different sizes, and a stamp with a strawberry-shaped die. The end of the rod is dipped into molten glass, say, ruby color, and a portion accumulated on its end. Too much or too little is taken, the wineglass will not be of the right size, and if the metal, as it is called, is not of the right temperature, the color will be too dark or too light. The lump is rolled on a table into symmetry and heated again. A few turns of the rod and a breath or two through it, and a hollow ball appears at the end. One extra puff of the breath and the bowl would be too large and too thin. A boy brings up a small portion of white glass, which he has picked out of another reservoir and blown hollow. This must be so hot as almost to drop off the rod, and must be ready at the exact moment. He touches the bowl with it, and the two adhere like sealing wax. A pull and a dextrous twist form the delicate stem of the wineglass upon which three little lumps of glass are then stuck and stamped as strawberries and the whole is again introduced into the furnace, where it would instantly drop out of shape but for the deft manipulation which it undergoes.

By the time it is heated the boy is ready with another globe of glass, per heads of a different color, which he causes to adhere to the bottom of the stem. The man spins it around between his shears, nipping part of it almost off, and thus gaining the right quantity of metal for the foot, no less and no more. One tap on an iron ledge breaks the superfluous piece, and leaves a small hole at the point of the fracture. Once more the action of the fire is called in to soften the brittle material, and when the pear shaped ends come out the points of the closed shears are introduced to widen the opening into a cuplike form.

A small lump of aventurin is by this time on the end of the boy's rod, melted and only saved from dropping by his dexterity. One touch and it adheres to the end of the cup just formed. He puts it out and winds it around, adhering as it goes to the edge. Again the fire does its duty, and then the artist finishes the form of the foot, detaching immediately the bulb at the top from his hollow rod. Another rod, with a molten piece of glass, is prepared for him by the boy's ready co-operation, and is pressed against the center of the foot, to which it adheres. Into the fire goes the whole piece, and when withdrawn the bowl of the glass is partly shaped by the shears, aventurin wound around the edge as before with the foot. A last heat, and with artistic care the delicate, crosslike bowl, which is some day to contain the sparkling wine, is completed.—London Globe.

The Minuteness of Spores.
Every plant in the vegetable kingdom springs from and produces seeds. The mushroom and the fungi in general are no exceptions, only that their reproductive bodies are termed "spores." Some fungi spores are so inconceivably minute that it would require more than 200,000,000 of them placed side by side to cover the space of a square inch.—St. Louis Republic.

You will, I believe, in general ingratiate yourself with others still less by paying them too much court than too little.—Lord Greville

THEY'RE ALL LIKE THAT.

Oh, have you ever known a girl, when asked about her age, Who'd sweetly smile and answer you and not get in a rage? The weather, styles and last new plays are topics safe for you. But if you venture on her age she'll snap those eyes of blue (Or if they're black 'twill be worse yet) and curl her lips in scorn. Then you will feel of all men you are the most forlorn. Now, test to one, if you could see within that maiden's breast, She'll be consigning you somewhere, but not among the blest. The girls are all alike in that the whole wide world around— You must not ask how old they are—at least so I have found. I tried it once, and to my cost. Now I'm a wiser man. And to you I follow I must say—avoid it if you can.—Richard Brent in Atlanta Constitution.

A NEW YORK STREET SHOW.

The Interesting Performance of an Equine Gymnast.

It is the easiest thing in the world for a horse to eat from the ground standing—that is the way it feeds in nature—but a horse that was standing in Nassau street the other day, attached to a delivery wagon, ate from the ground in a way that interested everybody who saw him.

Straightening out his fore legs in front of him, at an angle of about 45 degrees, something as a dog straightens out his fore legs in stretching, he lowered his body at the shoulders to about half its usual elevation above the ground. Then he inclined his head downward between his legs until his lips touched the pavement. He didn't need to bend his neck more than half as much as would have been necessary if he had remained standing with his fore legs upright. It was like a feat in gymnastics.

A crescent shaped crowd gathered in front of the horse, one horn of the crescent being on one sidewalk and the other on the other. Somebody put a pear down on the pavement between the horse's feet. Out went his feet and down he lowered his body and then deliberately he inclined his head and picked up the pear; and then he straightened up and ate it, all to the great enjoyment of the crowd. One man said Barum ought to have him, and yet when he straightened up and was standing at rest he was just a good looking horse whom nobody would ever have taken for the prize horse gymnast.

A boy laid down the core of an apple and the horse picked that up as before while the crowd looked on, and presently the driver came out of a building and jumped on the seat of the wagon. He saw the crowd, but he didn't let on that he saw it or anything remarkable at all; he simply gathered up the lines and drove off, and then the crowd melted away.—New York Sun.

London Cabbies' Trick.

"Like a ride, sir? Jump up. Nothing to pay."

The writer was taking a stroll along the Thames embankment one fine evening after supper when the driver of a smart looking four wheeler pulled across the road and hailed him thus curiously.

I jumped on the box beside him, and, noticing my look of inquiry, he explained: "You see, sir, we cabbies are not allowed to drive empty through the Strand during this half hour just as the theater goers are coming out. Of course there is a dead certainty of getting a fare now if we can only manage to get into the street. So to prevent the place getting filled with cabs there is a policeman at every side turning with strict orders to turn us back as soon as there are enough on the bank."

"But no bobby in the world can stop a man driving a fare into the Strand, and so we ask a likely looking customer to oblige us and jump in while we drive past the constable. Once in the street, we are pretty sure of picking up a fare before we are noticed and ordered out again."

"Thank you, sir, very much," he added as I alighted a few doors from the Villiers street end of the crowded thoroughfare, "and good night! Cab, sir? Yes, sir," and he quickly drove off with his new fare.—Pearson's Weekly.

Nasty American.

Among my fellow passengers recently on one of these good but very slow ships, the Irrawadie, was a little curly haired English boy who had evidently been brought up in the strictest sect of the aristocracy—an embryonic Englishman of the Englishmen.

"Do you speak French, little boy?" said a good lady to him, who was trying to scrape acquaintance with the youthful Briton.

"Oh, no, sir," said the little chap. "Do you speak American?" then asked the lady.

"Oh, no, sir," he replied, with a still stronger emphasis. "But wouldn't you like to learn American?" persisted the lady.

"Oh, no, thanks," answered this sturdy little patriot. "It is very, very nasty to speak American."—North American Review.

Tennyson's Prediction.

It has been learned that Tennyson predicted the day of his death. Just a year before his death friends of the poet were visiting Aldworth House. The late Lord Selborne turned to Tennyson and remarked, "You ought to be happy here." "Ah," sighed the poet, "I have only a year to live!" His hearers laughed at the remark, but it was a prophetic assertion that was verified to the minute.

Affability, mildness, tenderness and a word which I would fain bring back to its original significance of virtue—I mean good nature—are of daily use. They are the bread of mankind and the staff of life.—Dryden.

The Metonic cycle of 19 years, at the end of which each new moon comes back into the same day of the year, was among the most remarkable discoveries of ancient astronomy.

SENSATION CREATED

GLASSBLOWERS AND POTTERS.

Workingmen Appear Before the Ways and Means Committee—Pacific Railroad Bill Consumes Another Day in the House—Notice Given of a Substitute Bill—Hardy of Indiana Creates a Laugh.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The second day's debate on the Pacific railroad funding bill developed by far the most sensational incident of this session of congress. Mr. Johnson (Rep., Cal.) the only member of the California delegation who favors the bill, in the course of his remarks took occasion to make a remarkable vituperative personal attack on Editor Hearst of the San Francisco Examiner. He described Mr. Hearst and Mayor Sutro as men who were terrorizing the Pacific coast members, and made statements concerning the former which led Mr. Cooper (Rep., Wis.) to characterize it later as the "most disgraceful attack in the legislative annals of the United States." The members who had been listening attentively to Mr. Johnson's remarks, as he is always one of the most entertaining speakers in the house, were thunderstruck at the lengths to which he went. Once at the last session Mr. Johnson denounced Mr. Hearst, but on that occasion he was called to order by Mr. McGuire of California. Yesterday he completed his Philippic without interruption.

The speech created a profound sensation, which was increased by Mr. Cooper's denunciation of it as a cowardly attempt to blacken the reputation of a man of "positive genius." Mr. Cooper also took occasion to score the gentleman from California roundly for his attitude toward the bill.

Mr. Johnson made no attempt to reply to Mr. Cooper. This incident completely overshadowed the interest in the debate on the funding bill and thereafter it proceeded quietly to the hour when the general debate closed. Today the bill will be taken up for amendment under the 5-minute rule.

Mr. Harrison gave notice of a substitute bill should offer to provide for a commission to consist of the secretary of the treasury, secretary of the interior and attorney general to negotiate the settlement of the debt.

Evening Session.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Last evening's session of the house was spent in a vain effort to procure a quorum, which was undertaken at the instance of Mr. Erdman (Dem., Pa.). A call of the house was made and directed to arrest and bring in absentees. Pending this proceeding there were repeated motions to adjourn to suspend further proceedings under the call, etc. Mr. Hardy (Rep., Ind.) raised a laugh by asking if it would be in order to "submit a few remarks upon the perversity and cussedness of mankind in general and of the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Erdman) in particular." The house adjourned.

TARIFF HEARINGS.

Glassblowers and Potters Before the Ways and Means Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The workingmen played the principal parts in the tariff hearing yesterday by the ways and means committee. Delegations of operatives from the organizations of glassblowers, flint and lime glass workers, the bottle and windowglass blowers of Illinois and Pennsylvania and the potters of Trenton, N. J., and East Liverpool, O., spoke. All told the story of decreased wages, mills running on short time and general distress under the operation of the Wilson law. F. L. Bodine of Philadelphia spoke for the manufacturers of cylinder windowglass and Congressman Taylor of Ohio, for the potters, gave interesting illustration of ruinous competition from Japan. F. C. Partridge of Rutland, Vt., presented a schedule agreed upon by all the marble interests and minor interests were also represented.

Your Vitality?

The essence of life is force. Every breath you breathe, every heart beat, every motion of your hand, takes force. The measure of force we call vitality. If this is lacking, there is loss of flesh, lack of resistive power, a tendency to catch disease easily, especially a tendency to consumption. For low vitality nothing is better than Scott's Emulsion. It supplies force by furnishing the nourishing, strengthening elements of food in an easily digested form; enriches the blood, and builds up the system. When ordinary food is of no avail, Scott's Emulsion will supply the body with all the vital elements of life.

can squadron, has decided to allow the admiral to undertake the blockade of Charleston. Heretofore the squadron maneuvers have not gone beyond target practice, fleet evolution, signalling and landing parties. Gradually the exercises have been enlarged in scope as the officers and men gained in proficiency and became better acquainted with the qualities of their respective ships and now Secretary Herbert has become satisfied of the practicability of undertaking a regular blockade. Charleston was selected as the objective point because of the winter climate and the availability of Hampton Roads and Port Royal, S. C., as bases for the blockading fleet.

JACKSON DAY.

Henry Watterson Addresses the Gold Democrats at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Representatives of the gold Democracy of Illinois and other states of the middle west, northwest and south met at the Auditorium last night for the purpose of celebrating Jackson day. Fully 500 men were present, and the banquet was in many respects a notable affair of its kind. Letters were received from President Cleveland, Secretary Morton and Senator John M. Palmer, and a large number of Democrats throughout the country sent regrets over the wire or by letter at the inability of the sender to be present in person, and all sent words indicative of the utmost confidence in the future of that branch of the Democratic party which has declared itself against free silver.

Henry Watterson was the principal speaker of the evening. He was greeted with ringing cheers when he arose to begin his address on the "Future of Democracy." After eulogizing Democracy for its stand against protection, trusts and other combines, and congratulating that portion of it which left the Chicago convention as being opposed to "organized anarchy" and "organized capital," which he defined as those who stood by the Chicago platform and the Republican platform, respectively, he closed by saying:

This is St. Jackson's day, and, with reverent hearts, we are here to celebrate it. We are Democrats. We are Democrats. We are Democrats. We are for honest money. He stood by the integrity of the nation. We stand by the integrity of the nation. He believed in the people and trusted to the fidelity of his conviction. We believe in the people and trust to the fidelity of our convictions. When treason reared its head in the form of nullification, he struck it a withering blow. And so again and again shall we strike it, whenever and wherever it appears, until we have wiped demagogues and demagogues from the face of the earth and brought our government back to its original functions, the just protection of property and life, and the equalization of all men and all classes in the pursuit of prosperity and happiness.

CABINET PREDICTIONS.

Major McKinley Resting at Colonel Herrick's in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 9.—McKinley is resting quietly at the home of Col. Herrick, protected as far as possible from callers who have no legitimate claim upon him. He is not now at work upon his message, but is receiving visitors and resting. Last night Senator Allison was discussed for the state portfolio by the president-elect and several of his Cleveland friends. It is understood that Allison desires to finish his term in the senate. It is stated that when McKinley returns to Canton Senator Sherman will visit him there.

Among the callers at the Herrick home were two sons of ex-presidents, Hon. James R. Garfield and Webb C. Hayes.

In the afternoon McKinley took a drive with Colonel Herrick and lunched with him at the Union club. Mr. and Mrs. McKinley and Colonel and Mrs. Herrick took dinner and spent the evening with Mrs. Sarah Duncan, the president's sister.

Mr. Hanna was in conference with Hon. S. M. Taylor, secretary of state of Ohio, whose term of office is about to expire, and Colonel John Donaldson of Columbus. Major Dick stated that he had been agreed upon as the president's private secretary.

The cabinet predicted by one who has been a friend and staunch supporter of McKinley during his later career is as follows:

Secretary of State—Senator Sherman.
Secretary of the Treasury—Mr. Dingley of Maine, if his health permits.
Secretary of War—General Alger.
Secretary of the Navy—Cornelius N. Bliss.
Attorney General—Judge Goff of West Virginia.
Secretary of the Interior—Judge McKenna of California.
Postmaster General—Mr. Hanna, provided Senator Sherman is not secretary of state.
Secretary of Agriculture—A farmer from the central west.

DOWN TO BUSINESS

Indiana Lawmakers In Both Houses Pass Bills.

TWO COUNTY ENABLING ACTS.

Building and Loan Association Bill and Fee and Salary Law Amendments Introduced—House Passes Its New Rules and a Bill Appropriating Legislative Expenses.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 9.—Some business of importance besides listening to the message of Governor Matthews was transacted by the general assembly yesterday. The house adopted its new rules and the senate passed two bills, enabling the commissioners of Allen and Jasper counties to issue bonds for their new courthouses. A rollcall for bills was had in the senate and 22 were introduced, the most important of them being a building and loan bill by Senator Newby, upon the lines of the famous bill that was defeated two years ago, and bills to amend the fee and salary law. The house adopted new rules calculated to hold down the large minority and passed a bill appropriating $100,000 for the expenses of the session. Both houses adjourned until next Monday, and as that is inauguration day it is not likely that much business will be transacted then. The new lieutenant governor and the speaker will announce their standing committees on Tuesday. In the senate Senator Mull will head the finance committee and Senator Newby the judiciary committee. In the house it is probable that B. Wilson Smith will head the ways and means committee and John L. Linck the committee on judiciary.

DAYS' PROCEEDINGS.

Important Bills Introduced in the Senate—Contests Filed in the House.

The senate met promptly at 10 o'clock and transacted a good deal of business during the hour that intervened before the joint session to listen to the governor's message. The two bills passed were to enable the completion of the courthouses of Jasper and Allen counties.

The most important measure among the bills introduced was a building and loan measure by Senator Newby, which goes on the calendar as senate bill No. 22. The bill has all the essential features of the measure over which there was such a long and hard fight at the last session, and which was finally beaten in the senate. It also has one or two new features, designed to prevent the transfer of funds under guise of loans from one series to another or from a "No. 1" to a "No. 2."

There were three bills introduced for the rearrangement of judicial circuits, and two bills were introduced for the purpose of straightening out the fault in the fee and salary law requiring auditors and treasurers to make up their salaries from their fees.

Senator O'Brien introduced a bill placing the appointment of the custodian and engineer of the state house in the hands of the governor, secretary and auditor of state.

Senator Costlin introduced a bill providing that when road indebtedness of a township exceeds the road fund and the estimated proceeds from road tax for one year the trustee may levy an additional road tax not exceeding one per cent after presenting to the county commissioners a detailed statement of the matter.

Senator Shively at the afternoon session introduced an anti-trust law which is very complete in such provisions as define trust, fix penalties for violation of the act and provide methods of prosecution, but the bill after defining trusts suggests to declare them unlawful anywhere except in the title.

Senator Schenck introduced a compulsory education bill which is practically the same measure he had before the senate two years ago, and is modeled after the law of Illinois.

The senate adjourned until Monday.

The House.

The house transacted no business until after the joint session. It then remained at work for nearly an hour before adjourning until Monday. Mr. Nicholson, chairman of the committee on rules, presented his report. The rules of the last session are revised in a few points and are designed to hold in check the large minority and strengthen the hands of the speaker. The most important change is, instead of a mere Disease is like a train. It has a regular way of coming and going and keeps on steadily along a certain track. You can almost always tell how a disease starts, and where it will probably end. Disease usually begins when the appetite gives out—that's the first warning whistle. Then the stomach and nutritive organs fail to supply good blood. The circulation grows poor, thin and tainted. Instead of carrying nourishment to the different parts of the body it carries poison, which settles at some point and eats away the tissues. Afterward where it settles it is called liver or kidney or skin disease—scrofula, erysipelas, eczema, or consumption if it settles on the lungs. It is all one trouble—tainted blood; clear out this taint and build up the tissues with rich blood and the disease is stopped; side-tracked; it can't go any further. No matter what the name of a disease is if it's a blood disease, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure it by driving the poison out of the circulation and creating a new supply of healthy, red, life-giving blood to revive and nourish the wasted tissues. It puts the digestion in order, invigorates the blood-making organs and builds firm healthy flesh. Consumption is a blood disease. Don't believe it can't be cured! It is cured every day by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Dear Sir—I cannot say enough for your "Golden Medical Discovery." For two years my little boy suffered with heart trouble—first taking in grapple; second intermittent fever; third lung trouble. For two years he coughed. The physician could do no good and I thought he would die. I was told to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I did, and before he had taken one bottle he began to mend and could eat. When he had taken four bottles he was well and now is as stout as before. Respectfully yours, majority it requires a two-thirds majority to overthrow the decision of the chair.

Speaker Pettit announced that he had received the papers in three contests and had turned them over to the clerk. The cases are those of Pointdexter against Graham in Clark county, Adams against Miller in Parke and Cockran against Hart in Gibson county. The Clark county contest is based upon various charges of fraud and intimidation of voters. The contest in Parke and Gibson counties, however, bring up the direct issue of the legality of fusions arranged by committees.

Representative Thomas introduced a bill appropriating money for the expenses of the session. It was passed without objection under suspension of the rules. The amount appropriated was $100,000, after which the house adjourned until Monday.

Inauguration Ceremonies.

The inaugural committee, composed of citizens of both parties, completed the arrangements last night for the inauguration. The committee will meet at the Denison House Monday morning at 11 o'clock, and carriages will be sent for Governor and Mrs. Matthews and Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Newby. Governor Matthews will call on Governor Mount, and the latter will be escorted to the capitol. The governor's party will proceed to the senate chamber, where Lieutenant Governor Haggard will be inaugurated at noon in the presence of the general assembly, state officers and judges of the higher courts. Immediately following Governor Mount will be inaugurated from a platform in the main corridor. Governor Matthews will deliver a farewell sentence, and Chief Justice Jordan will administer the oath of office to Governor Mount. An informal reception will be held in the governor's parlor in the evening.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Affairs of the State Reviewed by Mr. Matthews.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 9.—Governor Matthews sent his last message to the general assembly yesterday. His introductory welcomed the legislature and pointed to grave responsibilities resting upon the members. The business depression demanded a wise and just economy in the conduct of public affairs.

The governor points with pride to the condition of Indiana's finances, and says the state debt has been reduced in the past four years $2,100,000, effecting a saving in the annual interest charges of $81,800. A moderate reduction in the general tax levy, he thinks, might be made without impairing the public service. The state debt sinking fund should be maintained at the present 3 cent levy for its sure and gradual extinguishment, which is: Foreign debt, $6,239,615.12, domestic, $484,000, total, $6,723,615.12.

Of the state tax law he says it has been cheerfully accepted and submitted to by individual taxpayers, but constantly fought by corporations. The law has been sustained by the supreme court of the United States. The legislature is admonished not to amend or change it as "it is a just law and has worked well."

Concerning the state institutions he says there is nothing of special importance to be reported. All are under non-partisan control except the two state penitentiaries. He recommends the establishment of a third penal institution, instead of spending large amounts in enlarging the present ones.

On the subject of compulsory education the governor writes at length. The number of children in the state of school age is 734,640, and the number enrolled in the public schools is 543,665, showing as not enrolled 190,975. He estimates the number attending the various private schools at 30,000, thus leaving 190,975 as not attending either public or private schools. He thinks a wise compulsory educational law would redound to the benefit of the state.

The governor thinks the annual appropriations to the state agricultural board should be continued, as he believes in time it will be able to place the state fair on a substantial basis.

The public schools are referred to as a source of pride and the legislators are asked to guard them jealously. The total revenue for the schools from all sources in 1896, was $4,891,418.04, and the fund now amounts to $10,215,333.00. He recommends the abolishment of the state sanitary commission and in lieu thereof the appointment of a competent veterinary surgeon by the governor. He also recommends the abolishment of the state geologists office. He says he is unable to commend the recommendations of the state board of health and believes that practical labor and investigation is of more value than theoretical fancies.

The governor says he appointed the centennial commission authorized by the last legislature and no attempt should be made to celebrate Indiana's 100 years of wonderful growth, except on a broad and generous scale. He asks careful consideration of the subject in connection with the condition of business.

He says it would be a valuable service to the public to adopt a vigorous law, preventing the formation of trusts and prohibiting their doing business within the state, with severe penalties of fine and imprisonment or both for its violation.

the Vandalla railroad, and no says says should be taken to ascertain whether the road over the state, and if so, to enforce the collection of the claim.

Building associations are declared a benefit to the community, and should be protected by wise and beneficial laws. Attention is called to the report of the commission authorized by the last legislature, and the governor bespeaks for it careful consideration.

The governor reviews the Cuban situation, and says it is proper for the representatives to voice the sentiment of the state and to ask our senators and representatives in congress to use every effort that at least belligerent rights be accorded the government of Cuban patriots.

Among other things considered is the salary of the governor, which the present incumbent thinks is not commensurate with the duties of the office. Pure food is touched upon, as are the state fish laws. The revision of the laws relating to municipal corporations, township trustees, insurance, etc., is recommended.

SENATOR ALDRICH.

Report That He Will Be Secretary of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Senator Aldrich refused to discuss a report in circulation yesterday to the effect that he had been tendered the office of secretary of the treasury. When seen by an Associated Press reporter he said: "Anything I would say would be misconstrued and I think my best plan is to say nothing."

"You can," it was suggested to him, "say whether there is any foundation for the story. Whether it is true or not."

"No I cannot say that. I can say nothing about it at all."

The senator was in close conference during the day and inquired late at the capitol in conference with his friends. He called on Mr. Dingley during the day.

CANTERBURY, Jan. 9.—The Rt. Hon. and Most Rev. Frederick Temple, D. D., was enthroned yesterday at the cathedral here as archbishop of Canterbury and primate of all England. The mandate for the enthronement was presented by the vicar-general to the Chapter of Canterbury in the treasury.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the E. C. Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. It afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the E. C. Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Here is the way Ingersoll put it: "Here is a shoe shop. One man in the shoe shop is always busy through the day—always industrious. In the evening he goes courting some nice girl. There are five other men in the shop that don't do any such thing. They spend half their working evenings in dissipation. The first young man by and by cuts out these others and gets a boot and shoe store of his own. Then he marries the girl. Soon he is able to take his wife out riding on an evening. The five laborers, his former companions, who see him indulging in this luxury, retire to the neighboring saloon and pass resolutions that there is an eternal struggle between labor and capital."

The Pennsylvania "The New World's Greatest Railroad."

Every foot of its lines is constructed with a view to the absolute safety of passengers, and this, with a comprehensive system of automatic signals, has almost eliminated the possibility of accident. This feature of safety is so well realized that, while accidents on other roads are given as minor news in the daily papers, so rare is a casualty on the Pennsylvania, that even an account of a freight accident is capped with glaring headlines in the leading dailies. Every mile of track is stone ballasted, and laid with the heaviest steel rails, so solidly bound in position that the spreading of rails is unknown in the history of the company.

Stretching from Chicago, St. Louis, Louisville, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Cleveland to Pittsburgh, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, it strings, with few exceptions, all the great cities of the Union on its strands of steel; like huge municipal jewels in a continent-encircling necklace. It traverses much of the most picturesque and beautiful scenery in eastern America. Going from west to east or from east to west, it is a favorite line of travel from nearly everywhere to nearly everywhere else. Its famous "limited trains," first introduced in 1882, revolutionized all the world's accepted notions and ideals of luxuriousness in travel, and gave the first grand impetus to the general improvement in track and train service, which has made American railways the wonder and the envy of all creation. It is the new world's greatest railroad, and mightiest corporation.—Salt Lake City Utahian.

Luck Has Never Helped Anybody.

In replying to the query, "Does not luck sometimes play a goodly part in a man's success?" Edward W. Bok, in the Ladies' Home Journal, writes:

"Never. Henry Ward Beecher answered this question once for all when he said: 'No man prospers in this world by luck, unless it be the luck of getting up early, working hard and maintaining honor and integrity.' What so often seems, to many young men, on the surface, as being luck in a man's career is nothing more than hard work done at some special time. The idea that luck is a factor in a man's success has ruined thousands; it has never helped a single person. A fortunate chance comes to a young man sometimes just at the right moment. And that some people call luck. But that chance was given him because he had at some time demonstrated the fact that he was the right man for the chance. That is the only luck there is. Work hard, demonstrate your ability, and show to others that if an opportunity comes within your grasp you are able to use it."
